POSTED ON 07.31.19

Developed by IDEMIA, the Motion Code™ credit card is a high-tech payment card with a dynamic security code – CVV2 – that automatically changes regularly. Instead of a static security code printed on the back of a bank card, the Motion Code™ CVV2 is displayed on an e-paper “mini-screen”.

The RHB Banking Group that provides financial products and services through its headquarter in Malaysia has chosen to work with IDEMIA due to its expertise, technical knowledge and strong references around the world. IDEMIA has indeed already experienced the whole deployment of such projects and will be able to provide highly technical abilities for this cutting-edge banking technology.

This solution brings for RHB customers a powerful acquisition tool and reinforce security of transactions while fighting against online fraud.

At IDEMIA, we ensure privacy and trust and we guarantee secure and authenticated transactions. At the same time, we never stop innovating for our international clients from Financial sectors and today we are proud to be the market leader in powered cards to provide end-to-end solutions for our clients.

Vincent Mouret, Senior Vice-President of the Asia Pacific region

We believe that even the strictest security measures must be convenient and user-friendly for customers. Our main objective is to deliver simple and seamless experiences to our customers. With Motion Code™ technology, cardholders will have a secure platform to enjoy e-shopping with peace of mind.
