

IDEMIA Names Karen Gregory Vice President of Human Resources for North America

Gregory Represents Two Decades of Leadership Expertise in the Field

POSTED ON 06.28.18

IDEMIA, the global leader in Augmented Identity, today announced the appointment of Karen Gregory as Vice President of Human Resources for North America. In this role, Ms. Gregory leads the strategic efforts for HR across IDEMIA North America's four business units including Identity & Security, N.A., Financial Institutions, Mobile Operators and Connected Objects.

I am thrilled to be part of a company experiencing growth and transformation. Securing peoples' identities is of extreme importance in this day and age, and I'm proud to have joined a company dedicated to addressing this critical issue and am fully committed to supporting the region's large employee population.

Karen Gregory

Karen comes highly qualified and I'm pleased that she is leading the Human Resources team in North America. Human resources plays a critical role in this organization and her strategy and vision will have a positive impact on our company.

Ed Casey, Chief Executive Officer, Identity & Security, N.A.

Before joining IDEMIA, Ms. Gregory was the Global Head of Human Resources, Commercial Solutions for BAE Systems. In this role she was responsible for leading and overseeing all HR functions in a global shared services delivery model. Prior to her nine years at BAE, she held Human Resources management roles at BearingPoint, Sallie Mae and Praxis, a defense contractor. She started her Human Resources career at Raytheon.
